

Rowena Cory Daniells has been involved in Speculative Fiction for over thirty years -- as a reader and fan, independent press, graphic artist, bookshop owner and writer.

Her award winning fantasy trilogy The Last T'En was published in Australia, the US and Germany. She also writes short stories, which have appeared in magazines and anthologies including Dreaming Downunder which won World Best Fantasy, and Dreaming Again.

With her latest trilogy King Rolens' Kin, Rowena set out to write the kind of book that you curl up with on a Saturday afternoon after a hard week.

She has sold a new fantasy trilogy, The Outcast Chronicles, which will be released in 2010.
